but . . . it's the LITTLE THINGS that count . . .

New drapes for the guest room, and Junior's first haircut. A new recipe for peach pie and new pans for baking it. A picnic at the beach, and a new hat for the weekly bridge. Every day events? Of course! But they're the things that make life livable!

What's a war in Illyria and another arctic expedition, compared to the thrill of the first glimpse of the family that's moving in next door, and the delivery of a shining new refrigerator? What's a royal wedding, and twelve rooms filled with gifts, when Anne has her fifth birthday tomorrow? They're interesting enough, something to talk about, to wonder at, perhaps, but pretty far away from that most important spot and the people who live there . . . your own home.

That's where your heart is, and that's where the real thrills lie, in the things that concern you and the people who live around you, next door, in the next block, anywhere in town. There's news about them in every issue of The Post, in "inside page" stories — and in every ad too, for the ads in The Post are news! There's news about new clothes for the family, and new food for the table and new furniture for the home. There's news about new entertainment, and new ways to get to it. There's news about something new on every page, from the latest dispatch on the front page to the new shoes for Anne on the last . . . all written to you and for you, and delivered every day.

Barbers Are Asking For Protection

Majority of Local Barbers Feel That 25c Haircut Must Go With Petition Clause to Enforce Price Rise

The barbers of Lindsay have taken to the campaign that something must be done about hair-cutting in this town.

A petition of barbers to the town council is being circulated for the purpose of bringing into effect a standard price on hair-cutting. This is to be placed under the Industrial Standards Act. The price limit will be set at 25c. If the barbers are successful, will probably be hair cut, and the hair cut will be 25c.

In fact, the barbers are in favor of the 35c price for hair but they feel that the 25c price will not meet the need.

The extra that is charged on hair-cutting is not the difference between a man making a living and a man making a fortune. It is the difference between a man making a living and a man making a fortune.

PRESERVING TIME IS HERE AGAINPLUM SEASON OPENS WITH
SENATE AWARDSBut Every Variety Makes Fine Jam
For Winter

It's a long pull from politics to preserving but when the plum season and pre-vacation activities open in the same week, the pull is too tempting for a modern cook. Of course all excellent parliamentarians get into "jam" with their political "plums," but the good cook just smiles and makes up a perfect jam from the interesting variety of the fruit now sold on Canadian markets.

Plums may be green, yellow, red, blue, purple or purplish-black—a whole rainbow for the jam cupboard. And they may vary in size from the small wild plums with little blossoms fattened in the husky Japanese plum. The fancy varieties sold by the dozen are too costly for jam-making and the few exports from make delicious jams and jellies.

The fine flavor and the color of the fresh ripe plum is easily preserved if jam or jelly is made by the modern short boil method. This method is simply adding enough fruit pectin to combine exactly with the pectin or jelly-making substance in the pulp of the stems to get a "set" before the flavor and color of the fruit is spoiled by long boiling. Before fresh plums was concentrated and bottled for use with short-boil recipes, husky fruits were boiled and boiled until enough pectin was dissolved in stems so that the remaining fruit and sugar thickened.

Plum Jam or jelly is easily and quickly made by the economic modern method.

4 cups (2 lbs.) crushed fruit; 1 cup water; 7½ cups (4½ lbs.) sugar; ½ cup bottled fruit pectin.

To prepare fruit, pit about 2½ pounds fully ripe fruit. Do not peel. Cut into small pieces and crush thoroughly. Measure fruit, tightly packed, and water into large kettle. Stir until mixture boils, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add sugar mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Makes 1½ dozen jars. Jam July 4 cups (2 lbs.) juice; 7½ cups (4½ lbs.) sugar; ½ cup bottled fruit pectin.

To prepare juice, crush thoroughly 4 pounds fully ripe fruit. Do not peel or pit. Add 1 cup water and bring to a boil, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or filter, squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and stir. Bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire, stir quickly. Pour into jars. Makes 1½ dozen jars.

HOUSEHOLD USES FOR JAM

For houses where there is no electric refrigerator a half-ice mixture will give a temperature of zero, in which truly delicate may be readily frozen. One part of jam and three parts of ice is the best mixture for the ice cream freezer.

PLATINUM BLONDE SKILLET

Every woman knows that the kitchen kitchen is almost to keep clean by the old-fashioned black cast iron skillet. Always shiny and greasy, it has been the worst enemy in the whole kitchen for the lady-maid, but the new platinum blonde skillet has produced a modern skillet which not only possesses all the good cooking qualities of the untreated cast iron skillet, but also has a light, brilliant appearance which makes it look like sterling silver. It is brilliant, easy to clean and is made of especially developed cast iron containing a high percentage of nickel.

DAIRY PRODUCTS MARKETING

EQUALIZATION SCHEME

Designed to assist in the maintenance of the cheese branch of the dairy industry in the Dominion, the Dairy Products Marketing Equalization Scheme has been officially approved. The scheme aims to stabilize the price of milk entering into the manufacture of cheese at a somewhat higher level than can be realized from the proceeds of the sale of cheese, and thereby equalize, to some extent, the returns from the marketing of dairy products.

"Changing conditions surrounding the marketing of different Canadian dairy products have during recent years had a marked influence on the channels into which milk for manufacture of cheese has been directed," a statement by Mr. C. S. G. Macdonald, Minister of Agriculture, explains.

Continuing the statement adds: "Dairy products produced and consumed in Canada and which are not ordinarily an export item, such as milk for fluid consumption, butter and ice cream, are of relatively higher value in the domestic market than any other products which are not continuously an export item. It is products in the latter class, such as from a standpoint of volume, butter & cream, and cheese, which are of domestic consumption, and which are exported in so far as primary producers are concerned, which are subject to export value."

"The resultant disparity in price as between milk entering into the manufacture of cheese and milk required for domestic consumption is for the manufacture of products which regularly exported, has stimulated the diversion of milk from the manufacture of cheese to other outlets."

"Cheese, however, is still a very important dairy product, and as a whole, the industry is a very important one in the Dominion. Moreover, Canadian cheese commands a higher price in the markets of the United Kingdom than cheese of the same type from any other country."

A fund has been provided by Parliament out of which it is intended that payments on the basis of the quantity of cheese manufactured will be made. Applications for such payments must be made to the Dairy and Cold Storage Commission, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, by the proper officers of the cheese factories in forms provided, which will bear instructions as to procedure in making applications. Payments revert to the Equalization Fund must be 50 per cent repaid among milk suppliers in the same manner as proceeds from the sale of cheese.

Administration of the scheme will be directly under the Dairy and Cold Storage Commission.

All Eyes on Mussolini, No. 3

Fascism Is Born in Italy; Mussolini Rules After Famous March to Rome

Il Duce Wages War Without Quarter To Crush Socialist and Communist Foes and Take Over Scepter

An intensely interesting story is that of the life of Benito Mussolini, through every adversity to become dictator of a powerful nation. This is the third installment of the six-part series by Milton Brenner, telling that story.

BY MILTON BRENNER

IN THE last days of August, 1917, Benito Mussolini, recovered from his wounds, lobbied on crutches to a train which took him back to Milan. He was a very pale and shaken Mussolini. He was definitely out of the war, so he once more took up his pen.

He soon found great need for it. Italy was rife with defeatism. In Parliament weak-kneed members bewailed the loss-driven-down zones of the war. They pointed to the revolution in Russia, where the people had overthrown the monarchy.

In October came the horrible news of the debate at Caporetto with breaking fight of the Italian army before the invading soldiers of Germany and Austrian hordes. There were demands that Italy get out of the war while there was time. All this Mussolini fought in his papers. He went on the stump from one end of his country to the other.

As a soldier, he called upon the memory of his fallen comrades in the Cuno and the Alps.

He demanded that defeatist members of Parliament be shot, just as the army shot traitors. He gave Italian back their courage when he said:

"Fascism we were asking: 'Have we enough bread, enough coal?'"

"They are asking: 'Have we steel enough, bullets enough, cannon enough?'"

"We will endure cold and hunger. They do not matter. We will not conquer. We have no choice."

VICTORY, THEN DEFEAT

Italy pulled itself together. The victory of the Piave River followed in June, 1918. Venice was saved. Italy's honor was saved.

When the armistice came, Italy took two losses — General Diaz, who had led the troops into victory, and Ciano, who had been war premier. Mussolini had been war minister.

But soon a terrible wave of disillusionment spread over Italy. All the Versailles treaty-making, President Wilson, Clemenceau, and Lloyd George were not giving Italy all that had been promised. Diaz was going to fight off the war to Italy. Benito Mussolini was being withheld. Mussolini raised his voice to his paper.

"We must not let the living and we must not betray the dead!" he cried. "Mussolini, Italy is being turned into a heap of smog. The Socialists and the Communists, inspired by the example of Russia, want a government of the Socialists. There were risks and risks all over the peninsula."

The Black Shirts of Mussolini, the rite of Italy in their hands, have the crowd at the march toward the city of Rome in October, 1922.

New born a long series of open eyes in most cities and towns of Italy, between Reds and Fascists. No quarter was asked; some given. They were killed and wounded on both sides.

CALLS FOR REVENGE

Mussolini summed up the situation in one sentence:

"Mussolini, the Fascists, the Fascists, will know but one law—the law of the sword."

Poached battles were fought for possession of town halls. If the Reds would not give, the Black Shirts would take. One week and push, government followed another.

On Oct. 3, 1921, Mussolini made his first speech, a sweeping attack upon the home and foreign policies of Premier Giolitti.

Southern Italy had been given to Italy, but the German-speaking population had kept up its agitation for return to Austria and election of four deputies to the Italian Parliament.

of the government, Socialists, trade unions, and Fascists signed a truce to put a stop to violence. But some Fascist boats rebelled and Mussolini resigned from the leadership. The next week was a great conference at Rome, where they begged him to consider and defend themselves to follow him as their Duce.

At the same time, Mussolini, the former republican, took a new turning. He now wanted support of the army. He knew many officers and men sympathetic with the Fascist cause. But they were loyal to the king.

On the evening of Oct. 24, Mussolini completely fooled the King. He went to Milan to listen to the Opera House in Milan to listen to music. On the night of the mobilization, he assumed a disguise.

In the middle of the place, a message was brought to him saying that the march on Rome had begun. He returned to his newspaper office and awaited results. The premier learned of the marching and wanted to proclaim martial law. He tried to refuse. He asked Salandra to form a government.

TEARFUL FAREWELLS, BUGLES SOUNDING, FLAGS WAVING, TROOPS EMBARKING

All the Centuries-Old Grim Pan oply of War

—IS REVIVED IN PHOTOS SHOWING NEW ROMAN LEGIONS OFF FOR ETHIOPIA

THE same roaring excitement that has speeded millions into battle throughout history now echoes across Italy's harbors as the Volunteer Militia sails over the horizon bent on conquest in Africa. The elemental rhythms of rolling drums, the relentless march of marching feet, the clatter of deadly ac-

Thousands of daughters, wives and overcoats take part in tearful farewells for their menfolk as they sail for Ethiopia.

Hold aloft on a comrade's shoulders, the young eager sounds a stirring call as Italian troops sail from Naples for Ethiopia to the cheers of thousands jamming the piers.

"TO BRING MILLIONS TO THE HIGHLANDS"

Right at hand for 5,000,000 Canadians is this glorious holiday of lakes and waterways—rock-ribbed hills, forests and woods. The new highways are bringing the Highlands of Ontario within reach of the tourist, holiday seeker and vacationist—not only of Canada, but of millions just across the border.

NORTLAND! VACATIONLAND!

WILKINSON

Well-constructed highways, with byways and main roads crisscross the countryside, beckoning to lovers of the great outdoors to come and holiday in this New Ontario.

People will have their summer homes here, and comfortable hotels and accommodation for transients will be necessary. But even more important is the opening up of the doors for better communication between the farms and the dwellers in the towns.

These highways do credit to the foresight of statesmen, surveyors and engineers who conceived the work, and to the loyal efforts of the workers who built them. The men with whom it has been our privilege to serve in this part of the McCracken & Crawley development, supply complete camp services for the great masses of vacation, fishing, hunting, and caring for the sturdy workers, keeping them healthy, happy and content when "off the job" and relieving officials of all camp management worries.

CANADA'S NATURAL RESOURCES

"Canada's Biggest Cook" has also, during the past 21 years, fed and housed the men who developed Canada's great resources: mining, lumbering, railroads, and hydro-electric development.

WILHELMINA FAINTS, AND

By MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Painting for the time being very pretty things as the good, steady, unemotional and industrious, a certain middle-aged, pretty pictures of Scotch lochs and mountains in the foreground to fastidious, pink-tinted, very recently mounted her easel in various beautiful spots at the end of the Dutch Farm in Perthshire. Here, instead of thinking of Dutch cheese and butter to watch Ben Vorlich, one of the great old world's favorite, peace.

She will wander all the rest of her life, she can get the happiness to be walled Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, the only real 24-hour "mother" ruler in the world. And like old Queen Victoria, when she rules the rostrum, she has found out the value of the Dutch Farm. Many of them were very pleased. Some were not pleased and more may be heard about it when the Dutch Farm meets next fall.

Little Holland used to be very well off. With her East Indian empires of Java, Sumatra and the Dutch East Indies, she had considerable income. But she had to suffer, not only in the war, but also in the post-war period, when she was forced to give up her colonies.

Queen Wilhelmina... when she rules, she can get the happiness to be walled Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, the only real 24-hour "mother" ruler in the world.

WAR PREPARATIONS URGED FOR CANADA IN FACE OF DANGER

Dominion Must Be Ready to Defend Freedom by Force, Macdonald Warns

Because of the development of warlike conditions in the world, it is the belief that Canada should be prepared to defend itself by force. This belief is expressed in a statement made by the Hon. J. A. Macdonald, Minister of the Interior, in a speech made at the Dominion House of Commons, Ottawa, August 27.

Appearing as the guest of honor at the War Veterans' Day luncheon of the Canadian National Exhibition, Ottawa, August 27, Mr. Macdonald, Minister of the Interior, said that the Government was not prepared to defend itself by force.

Because of the danger which is associated with the Canadian military staff, he was prepared to speak a little more freely than the public had heard in the past. He said that the Canadian military staff was not prepared to defend itself by force.

The war mobilization, he said, was a matter of life and death. It was a matter of life and death for the Canadian people. It was a matter of life and death for the Canadian people.

Mr. Macdonald said that the Canadian military staff was not prepared to defend itself by force. He said that the Canadian military staff was not prepared to defend itself by force.

"In our relations with all the world, we are in a position of weakness," he said. "We are in a position of weakness. We are in a position of weakness."

Following the war, a tendency to peace has been shown. But the war has not been forgotten. The war has not been forgotten. The war has not been forgotten.
